Very good class considering the topic and that it is mandatory. Hary kept it interesting.

6. This is the only class on the list I took. Jason did a wonderful job. He is personable and has a great teaching style. My only comment to improve is to spend less time on review and more on the actual subject at hand. I found this to be true for all of the classes I took.

This 2 day course was one of the best that I took. Jason was VERY helpful! His examples were 10x easier to relate to and remember. I would HIGHLY recommend this class to anyone Assessor's Cadastre - I really enjoyed this course, my only issue was that we really didn't have any course materials to leave with.

The Assessor's Cadastre' (Richard Norejko) was an outstanding class and very interesting with lots of content and very well presented.
I thought the instructor was very knowledgable and kept my attention but a little bit of material or power point presentation would have been nice to leave with.
Wow great class, great conversation about history of assessment. Keep this class in the future.

Property Design & Measurement: This class was an absolute JOKE. I can't stress enough what an extraordinary waste of time this was. If anybody learned anything in this class they shouldn't have been at the conference in the first place. We spent 2 hours defining what a ranch single family home, vs 2-story, split level, etc. was, breaking up into small groups to come up with pros & cons, and then reconvening to discuss what we discussed - with no new insight provided by the class and/or instructors other than the common sense initial thoughts prompted by the image of said ranch, 2-story, split level, etc.. Another hour plus discussing how square footage is calculated by measuring the perimeter of non-complex improvements. If would have been one thing if we were discussing rare and unusual homes but this was ridiculous. Another 90 minutes walking through the various agencies that exist, reading through their blurb on measuring philosophies and how they don't have any "clear guidelines - so just follow established best practices in your office". Why waste so much time learning about what they don't have to say on the topic?? Clearly I was extremely disappointed with this class. The worst part about it was, it appeared the instructors knew they had 2 hours worth of extremely first day, entry-level content and were somehow tasked with stretching it out over an 8-hour session. There was so much mindless filler it was terrible and it made them look bad. And in talking with others who took the class I reserved my opinions until I got their feedback to make sure I wasn't crazy and everyone I spoke with shared the exact same thoughts to some degree.

1	Beaver Run really needs to update their rooms and beds. It is getting pretty grim. The people that work there are very nice and professional though.
2	The chairs became a little hard to sit in later in the day, but other than that the resort was great.
3	too expensive.

9	I like the facilities. It was very comfortable and easy to get around.
10	Tables are a little small for the amount of books needed for the class
11	In classroom - you hear the teacher next store . Very loud.
12	Our room was very warm in the afternoon.
13	33. Average for comfort and hospitality; poor to very poor for convenience and difficulty of making your way around the premises.
14	All of the classrooms tended to be cold.
15	Any chance we can switch it up every two years. Could we try it in Denver once and see if that works. Its really boring in Breckenridge.
16	Beaver Run is an awesome venue. The food was good, the amenities superb. Please don't change.
17	Great Location
18	Lots of noise from parking lot area. Hallways dated and a little dirty. Hotel room ok but suite was dark and dated.
19	The rooms are large enough to spread out a bit more, why cram us all into the very center. Also, the old chairs are super uncomfortable when one considers how long a class day is. Spend a little money BEAVER RUN!!!
20	The conference class used for Terry Longs title conveyance was uncomfortably hot.
21	Very noisy area. Could hear a lot of noise coming from the hall and the neighboring conference rooms.
22	Peak 3 is too small for the amount they try to fit in the room, and it gets hot
23	BEST CATA Conference I've attended. NEVER move it from Beaver Run. The questions on this survey are not as clear as they could be. Andy Wyatt
24	Out of all the conferences that I have been to through other Agencies this is one of the best!
25	Rooms were either very hot or very cold. I am sure that is an ongoing issue that is difficult to address.
26	Beaver Run Resort is excellent for classes.
27	I love Breckenridge for our conference.

Overall location. The resort was great but I am not a huge fan of Breckenridge. Everything is overpriced and people outside the resort were not friendly. I was followed around a toy store like I was some kind of shop lifter....weird vibe in that town. It would be great to see CATA members vote on a location preference each year. I understand some folks need to travel a longer distance but it would be fun to see the diversity in Colorado. It would give different counties an opportunity to host. It would also be fun to incorporate local tours to those who are interested. Tours could consist of local attractions or unique and interesting properties/locations.

I enjoyed the dinner but I think the flow was bad. I would like to see the buffet set up better next year. It was hard getting out to the food and then getting back in to the seating. The front desk clerks were outstanding!

How about we do it in Denver, There would be so much more to do after the classes.

Too many of the same classes and not enough new or alternative classes.

It was an excellent conference. I hope the boss will let me come back next year.

I noticed a lot of people were complaining about some of the classes not getting enough breaks. When you keep someone in a class for too long and don't let their mind refresh they don't retain as much. Their focus goes elsewhere and if they are testing, this doesn't help at all.

Great Job! Especially our president Karen Hart.
